Citizens Utility Board to give phone bill savings tips at Collinsville clinic

Members of the Citizens Utility Board will be at the Collinsville Public Library today to help people learn how to save money on their phone bills.

Consumers can go to the library at 408 W. Main St. from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. today for an individualized cost-cutting analysis. A recent phone bill should be brought to the event.

"These clinics offer consumers a chance to meet one-on-one with experts who can analyze their bills and suggest easy, practical ways to save hundreds of dollars a year," said Illinois Lt. Gov. Pat Quinn.

Those interested in a free phone bill analysis from CUB can call (866) 688-4282, send an e-mail to phonesavings@citizensutilityboard.org or mail a copy of a recent phone bill to: The Phone Savings Center, c/o Citizens Utility Board, 208 S. LaSalle St. Suite 1780, Chicago, Ill., 60604.
